

PROJECT INTERMEDIATE 12 ICPNA

SURVEY

INTRODUCTION:

Nowdays, It's not necessary to buy a book because there are e-readers that you can use to read any book. but there are many people who spend money going for shopping books, so I realiced a survey in my city about it.

PARAGRAPHS:

Here are the findings of my survey:

I surveyed a sample of 20 people. The majority (16) said they read imprint books.

There are so few people that know the e-readers, but only 4 people have an e-reader.

3 of 20 people would like to have an e-reader.

It means the vast majority don't know the e-readers. From this group, half of the members prefer to buy magazines and neither men nor women like to shop e-readers.

The results of the survey are very clear, Either poor or rich people prefer to buy books than e-readers With some axception, they prefer to use an e-reader because it is lightweight, touch-sensitive and hanheld.

An Interesting result is They save money to increase their capital to go shopping many times in a month, but They save up either to go shopping for many books or magazines. Finally, all of them would like to pay off with a credit card, but unfourtunatly some of them can't. on the other hand a few people don't spend much money dowloanding books in the e-readers.

CONCLUTION:

To conclude, there are many people that spend money unnecessary shopping for books because they don't know the e-readers, also they don't know that an e-reader provides an excellent service to read comfortable.
